The participatory process of development intervention is lunch to wider section of people in more than village in Jharkhand state through its geo - specific Activities and also through the network partner which are financially sported to deferent government and no- government funding agencies.

The volunteers of the movement did commendable work in organizing, mobilizing and educating them to fight against the injustice meted out to them and their community. But, the limiting factors were that they were neither trained nor having a broader analysis of the strategic issues connected with the local problems. Many failed to link up micro level realities to macro situation. "MULTI ART ASSOCIATION" was established to support and to equip the grassroots groups on strategic thinking reflecting the grassroots issues. It has been supporting the groups working for protection of the rights of the excluded tribal, daltis, women, children and other forms of hidden poor people as part of the efforts to strengthen the civil society.
